SPECIFIC PROBLEM(S) ADDRESSED (As Identified On Comprehensive Treatment Plan):

#1: Problem: Depression/Feelings/Mood

Goal: "I would like to be better"

Objective 1a: Client will identify and explore three ways to distinguish between rational thought, irrational thoughts and facts.

Objective 1b: Client will identify and explore three ways to improve the mood while the client is staying in the nursing home

CONTENTS TOPICS DISCUSSED:

This individual psychotherapy session was focused on asking the open ended questions about the clients past, present or anticipated life situations and roles in order to gain new and deeper understanding and achieve catharsis. MS. RUTH WHITE was encouraged to talk about her isolative behavior she was demonstrating inside the nursing home as well as the delusional ideations. Session was completed in a confidential location at the nursing home and the client was able to process the treatment plan goals and objectives. Ms. White was alert and oriented times two and her affect was flat and her mood was depressed. It has been identified that the client is having hard time to hear and also having vision issues. She reported that she is having minor depression and this is due the lack of contact from her family members. Session was done in 05/03/2019 from 1350 to 1435. The therapeutic goal was to help the client to identify three triggers to anxiety, three mood-calming activities to employ, and two people she can talk to when she feels anxious or overwhelmed 1A.

INTERVENTION: Supportive/Humanistic

SPECIFIC TECHNIQUES:

Category 3 - Support

PROGRESS MADE TOWARDS GOALS: progress minimal

As Evidenced By:

The clinician used the client centered model and the session explored new areas of positive thoughts and creative actions in order to acquire new understanding. Appropriately detect the negative and undesirable thoughts and emotions as well as how to eliminate those feelings from the thought pattern was also discussed during this session. Session assisted the client to understand the relationship between the external situations or remarks and positive self-perception. Session also helped her to have a better understanding about the value of self and keep a better self-esteem and self-confidence. When the client was prompted and redirected, she was able to identify three triggers to anxiety, three mood-calming activities to employ, and two people she can talk to when she feels anxious or overwhelmed. The client was accepting the positive information given by the clinician during this session and the next session was scheduled on 05/10/2019.

SPECIFIC PROBLEM(S) ADDRESSED (As Identified On Comprehensive Treatment Plan):

Crisis Response

#2: Problem: Client has experienced unsafe people and places in his lifetime and often worries about well-being of self and others. Client also worries about loss of independence due to declining health.

Goal: Reduce excessive and persistent worry through improved coping and use of support system.

Objective 2a: Client will ID/process 3 or more major sources of anxiety.

Objective 2b: Client will ID/process 3 or more triggers to anxious thinking.

Objective 2c: Client will ID/process 3 or more thinking errors and how each impact intensity, duration, and frequency of anxious feelings and/or symptoms.

Objective 2d: Client will ID/process 3 ways to increase social and/or vocational involvement to reduce time spent in anxious thought/worry.

METHODS USED TO ADDRESS PROBLEMS (What Techniques or Activities Were Used To Work On Problems):

MHP used a client-centered approach to stabilize client and address 2a: Client will ID/process 3 or more major sources of anxiety. MHP reflected and summarized client's concerns to insure understanding of client's perspective. MHP validated client's perspective and normalized client's high level of anxiety in the context of client's anxious state. MHP slowed speech and breathing to trigger client's mirroring bxs. MHP reframed client's panic as urgency and processed client's tendency to "worry first"--worry before knowing if worry is needed. MHP brainstormed action steps to address client's needs as soon as businesses opened up. MHP explored for SI and acts of self-harm and potential for stabilization at ER.

PROGRESS MADE TOWARDS GOALS: progress moderate

As Evidenced By:

Client was stabilized in home and did not need to go to local ER.LEVEL OF FUNCTIONING ASSESSMENT GAF:

CURRENT: 50 RECENT PAST (30 DAYS): 50

Client called at 0215 in high level of distress and was met at his home. Client displayed emotional distress over finding his daughter was taken to the hospital in Paris, TX. Client was disheveled with dysphoric mood, panicked affect, and O4. Client was repeating himself that he needed to get to the hospital right then and could not focus on anything being said to him. Client remained respectful toward MHP and immediately followed MHP's directives to breathe and mirrored MHP's bx--slowing speech and breathing. Client was able to slowly reduce feeling of panic and increased focus on action steps--find out reason for going to the hospital, call his church and local churches for monetary donation, sell or pawn an item. Client displayed signs of sadness in tone of voice and slumped shoulders once calmed and stabilized (no need for ER stabilization). Client ID'd feeling frustrated at having to wait and sad due to not having friends or family willing to loan him money to give brother gas money. Client denied SI and self-harm. Client to continue appt this day as scheduled--4-05-19 @10am, if he does not go to Paris hospital.
